Dear Jody,

Thank you for the wonderful little care package. You can not imagine how wonderful it was to receive such a gift. To picture the guys (incarcerated people) in line, excited, wondering what it was inside the bags. Then all the munching of trail mix, chewing of jerky, and the trading of items for soups and other essentials. One guy had a allergy to scented soaps, so he was buying everybodys ivory soap that you all provided, so that was pretty cool. It was interesting to read all the information you provided as well. I did not know that there was a "History of soap". If possible, would you please provide a "History of tooth paste" because I swear to God there are so many people in here who do not know how to brush their teeth! Please add dental flossers with instructions on how to use them, and deodorant too... I think the Covid-19 masks should be called "Colgate" masks because too many guys have bad breath! The Officers wanted us to turn in our masks so they could be washed, in a big bag, and returned to us!!! I was like "Hell naw!" I am not gonna turn in a piece of cloth I wear on my face and get back some random cloth that was worn by "senior funk mouth! Ya know what I'm saying? However, other than that, did you get the things I wrote on "Lockdown" and the other thing on "Healthy Boundaries"? I sent them via institutional mail.

I am currently spending my time writing jokes, and a novel titled "Healthy Boundaries". I am using a dysfunctional yet romantic relationship dynamic to teach the effects of ~~xxxxxx~~ a un healthy relationship by way of sensual romance and sarcastic comedy. I am in the very beginning scene, twelve pages so far, but I have set up the entire story with the opening scene and through the rest of th^e story I will develop the characters via the back story, after the inciting incident, etc. Besides that I'm writing a prequel screenplay to add to the sequel I already wrote. In between I will write the third of the trilogy which is really the on^e in the middle, kind of funny how it worked out, but in the way of creativity I can't complain- I'm just going with the flow.

I read in your news letter that you all are working towards supporting people who are coming home? What does that look like? I discovered my nich in life here at SQ. I am a actor, writer, comedian, singer, song writer, I have been featured on Ear Hustle several times and ~~I xxxxxx~~ I wrote, produced, directed and starred in my own paralell play, through Marin Shakespeare. I am a healed and healthy participant in the community here at SQ, everyone calls me "Comedian".

P.S. You HAVE MY PERMISSION TO POST/SHARE MY WRITING. (IF YOU WANT TO ~~DO~~) } AS Mark Twain once said "I would have wrote a shorter letter, but I didn't have the time" ^(MOVIE)

(After second thought, I should not have double spaced this). Anyway, I thank you all for helping us all ~~point~~ out, and if you don't mind I do have a suggestion and request. Is there any way to get an honorary ~~XXXXX~~ degree? I manage my time very poorly, am quite lazy, and if I have any free time at all, I spend it exercising, watching old movies on 2.3 or I write jokes or practice my stand up act on my various neighbors. (To which I have over two hours of stand up material) So as you can see I don't have much opportunity to take classes and be bothered with the formalities of showing up to class, doing homework, etc. Oh, yeah, before I forget...

Did you hear about the "Stimulus Package" Trump is putting together for all of the out of work strippers? He is just waiting for Bill Clinton to co-sign on it, that way it can be Bi-Partisan... The only requirement is that all the strippers gotta show up to the White Houses old Oval Office to get their "Stimulus Package"... Did you hear about the one legged stripper who got fired? On her unemployment claim, under "reason for termination" she put: Unable to make it clap.. You know what dating a one legged stripper is like? It's like a five dollar fill up from KFC, you get two breasts, but only one thigh and one big biscuit! My sister is a teacher, she just bought a new Honda Civic Ex. I asked her "Why did you buy a new car?" She said "I need it for work" I told her "No one is wroking right now! School is out!" She said "Uh-uh, I work from home" I said "Exactly! You don't drive anywhere! Why do you need a new car?!" She exclaimed "It's the perfect time to buy! No payments for six months... Plus, gas prices are at a all time low" I flipped out, saying "Hello! it don't matter how much gas is! YOUR NOT DRIVING ANYWHERE!" She said, defiantly "You just don't understand because your locked up, ^{oil} ~~gas~~ is below fourty dollars a barrel, so evertime I fill up my tank they gotta pay me per gallon to put it in my car, so I'm actually making money!" I feel sorry for her students if she has to teach them math, or economics, hopefully she's just an English teacher...

Well, anyway, I hope I made you laugh. I have so much more but for the sake of decency, I will ~~ask~~ close for now. I really do appreciate all of your hard work, I know it takes a great team and having met everyone that comes in I am confident you all will be back to work as soon as that gate opens. Thanks for making sure everyone is safe, especially Officers and staff memebbers. Without all of you, the indigenous people of SQ would not survive or thrive. God bless you all, and take care ou~~x~~ there, stay safe... We will all see you soon!
